

Cpanel Source Privacy Policy

We use your personal information to fulfill your requests and serve you better. We do not share your personal details with other people or companies without your written consent. We will only send you materials you have indicated you want to receive, and we will honor your opt-out requests. We use strict security measures your personal information, including your credit card and other critical data are well protected. We do reserve the right to use or disclose information in certain circumstances, such as to satisfy a legal request or protect our property.

If You Submit Personal Information

If you choose to provide us with personal information in an e-mail, or by filling out an online form, we use that information to respond to your message and to help us locate for you, the information you have requested. In the case of an order submission, that information is kept and held in a secure billing database for access by authorized personnel and is utilized for billing purposes only. Your information is not shared with any other parties other than Cpanel Source.

Employee/Representative Accountability

Only Cpanel Source representatives that have a legitimate business purpose for accessing and handling personal information obtained by us are given authorization to do so. The unauthorized access or use of such information by a Cpanel Source representative is prohibited and constitutes grounds for disciplinary action which may escalate to termination. Additionally, our information management systems are configured in such a way as to block or inhibit employees from accessing information that they have no authority to access (such as credit card information).

Website Security

Areas requiring submission of valuable or critical information utilize 128bit SSL encryption when accessed via https://. Every effort is made from an administrative stand point to insure the security of Cpanel Source's website and related content. Information presented on the Cpanel Source website is private information and may not be distributed or copied. The use of the name Cpanel Source, or other affiliated Cpanel Source company names require expressed written consent by an authorized manager of Cpanel Source. Please report any misuse or abuse of the name, logo, or associated text and documentation to our abuse department via e-mail to abuse@cpanelsource.com. For site security purposes and to ensure that this service remains available to all users, this computer system employs software programs to monitor network traffic to identify unauthorized attempts to access, change information, or otherwise cause damage. Except for authorized law enforcement investigations, no other attempts are made to identify individual users or their usage habits. Raw data logs are used for no other purposes and are scheduled for regular destruction. Unauthorized attempts to change information on this or any other Cpanel Source media is strictly prohibited and may be punishable under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act of 1986

Notification of Changes

We will post any changes to this Privacy Policy before their effective date so you will always know what information we collect, how we use it, and under what circumstances, if any, we disclose it. You are responsible for periodically checking our web site for changes to this Privacy Policy. Every effort is made to prevent retroactive modifications to this document though we reserve the right to do so, and such a change may be required by governmental or judicial measures.

Questions or comments regarding this Privacy Policy

If you would like us to access, update, change, or delete information we have about you in our marketing database, or if have questions about our privacy policy, please contact our us via e-mail at privacy@cpanelsource.com